  - b) Future meetings and speaker priorities for 2023
- 4. Communications (information only)
  - a) At the end of last year, the QCA published a report jointly with Hardman & Co that assessed the impact of increasing retail engagement on liquidity. The report finds that there has been a pronounced shift in attitudes towards how companies view retail investors, gathering evidence on the growing number of events and other forms of engagement that companies are putting on to increase their visibility amongst this group. The report also finds that, as a result of increased levels of engagement, there has been an uptick in liquidity for companies who have increased this engagement.
